

It was an honor and a pleasure to jury this show. The diversity and caliber of work produced by the religious and spiritual artists of Utah never ceases to amaze me. I was particularly impressed with the variety and inclusion with which the submitting artists depicted Christ and the number of works centering powerful female narratives, figures, and symbols. I wish we had been able to accept twice as many works as we did. To all the artists who submitted, keep delving deep, keep creating, and keep challenging yourselves.
